WORKING WITH CHILDREN CHECK REQUIREMENTS

Working with Children Checks aim to create a child-safe environment and to protect children and young people involved in our sport from physical and sexual harm.

They assess the suitability of people to work with children and young people and can involve:

- criminal history checks;
- signed declarations;
- referee checks; and
- other relevant background checks to assess a person's suitability to work with children and young people.

Working with Children Check requirements vary across NTAs. Fact Sheets for each NTA are available from the relevant NTAs relevant agency

Detailed information, including the forms required to complete a Working with Children Check, are available from the relevant agencies in the nation of the NTA.

It is important to remember that when travelling to other NTAs, representatives of sporting organisations must comply with the legislative requirements of that particular NTAs.

In certain jurisdictions, temporary, time limited exemptions from working with children checks may be available for international visitors with a Working with Children Check in their home state.

The laws providing National exemptions are not consistent across the world.

If an employee or volunteer for your organisation is travelling internationally to do work that would normally require a working for children check, you will need to check the relevant requirements of that NTA.
